NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE METHODIST, of New York, has always been edited with marked ability by Rev. Dr. CROOKS. Its publishers have just added to its editorial corps, Rev. ABEL STEVENS, an equally experienced journalist, and author of the best History of Methodism extant. They have also engaged contributions and sermons from the Rev. T. DE WITT TALMAGE, whose success and popularity as a preacher, writer and lecturer, are almost unexampled, and whose free Tabernacle in Brooklyn, with its congregation of over 3,000 people, is one of the marvels of the age. Rev. HENRY WARD BEECHER has a Lecture Room Talk every week.

THE METHODIST abounds in good things; it never dull or dry, has stories for children, treats for farmers, and something for everybody. Mrs. Willing's great serial story is almost ready. They offer for the price of one year's subscription ($2.50) to send THE METHODIST from now until July 1st, 1872. Specimen copies free. 114 Nassau Street, New York.

Seed Time and Harvest.

BY "CITIZEN."

Driftwood had drawn a chair up near the table, pushed aside the books and papers, and was leaning his head upon his hands. To his sharp eye, Risket's manners as he had frequently remarked it upon the street, or in the saloon, had revealed that all was not right. At times, when walking with his friends he had blushed to return his careless nod which revealed intimacy with one whose dress and undignified bearing denoted the dissipated life, and whose air was that of those familiar with the plays and the actors behind the scenes; for no one "seeing the world" as Risket had seen it, can stand up erect and boast of unstained manhood.

"Bring no one with you! Human depravity! hard case!" "I suspected as much, something serious, I fear," and as he spoke half audibly, Driftwood buttoned his great coat, put on his hat and went out into the darkness. While walking briskly along the almost deserted street there came to him as if hoarsely whispered by the sharp blast, an expression, which, uttered thirty years before, had not yet escaped his memory. "Call it sowing the wind if you please, perhaps it is; but when harvest time comes others may reap the whirlwind." Memory also handed from her great galleries another and more genial picture, and the honest face of Tom Thorn again looked upon him as on that night when he said:—"Frank Risket, a man reaps what he sows, and you know it. Would that I could put my arm through yours, and together we would walk with higher purposes and toward purer pleasures."

Wrapt in such reveries his quick steps brought him to Risket's office. The bell summons was unanswered, nor was the gas burning. Perplexed that Risket should not meet his appointment, evidently too, an important one, he was about to retrace his footsteps, when a villainous looking man, who had been concealed in the shadow of the doorway, suddenly confronted him, and asked, "Do you want to see the gentleman who occupies this office?" Driftwood made no answer, and was about to move on, when again the same harsh voice made the inquiry, "Be you Mr. Driftwood?"

"Yes, sir! I am and why?"

He spoke impatiently, but his questioner, not heeding his tone, pushed a note into his hand, and quickly slipped off into the darkness. By the light of the street lamp, Driftwood recognized Risket's handwriting. Unfolding the paper he glanced at the contents.

"Friend Driftwood: I cannot meet you at my office; come to No——, ——st.

Yours, truly, FRANK.

The man who delivered the note, the hurried handwriting, the suddenness of the whole transaction, confirmed Driftwood's suspicions that something serious was involved. The locality to which the note directed him was not of the best reputation, and he almost determined not to go; but friendship was strong; old kindnesses were remembered; and his feet again turned toward the appointed place. It was a wine house, and bore traces of having once been an attractive resort. Now, however, as if reflecting the degeneracy of those frequenting its rooms, it wore an air of neglect and pollution.

Driftwood, regardless of the stares of those who were gathered about various card tables, directly approached the bar and asked for Risket.

"In there," was the short reply of the corpulent, red faced proprietor, who pointed toward a side door. As Driftwood entered, Risket, who was alone, rebolted the door.

"Well, you have come haven't you? What did you think of that errand boy I left at my office?" Driftwood was in no joking mood, and answered bluntly. "Why do you request me to come here such a night as this?"

Risket started at the roughness of the tone and cast a hesitating glance toward his companion. His troubled face, as it turned away, touched Driftwood's kindly nature.—Regretting his severity he said,

"Come Frank, rouse up; why so blue? here, take this cigar and let us have a good old fashioned chat."

But Risket was in no humor for an old fashioned chat. For months there had been raging in his soul a blinding, driving storm, out of which voices of evil spirits had sounded temptingly, tauntingly, and all the while, which alone made the storm really dreadful, a still, small voice never to be altogether silenced by the roarings of the tempest of passion, by the evil voices, or by his own violent attempts to silence it; the still small voice appealing to the man, the true man within him, made after the image of God, calling on him to assert his manliness, to obey to conquer and to live." The evil voices had conquered, and he was in no mood for hearty chats. As his deep heart struggles became more evident, Driftwood's sympathy expressed itself in the kindliest of words. He drew his chair near that of his friend, and laid his hand upon his shoulder. "Risket, let me know it, and I will do all in my power to appease the agony I know you are suffering, surely you do not fear to trust me?"

The persuasive tones of his pleasant voice, had their effect, and with great effort and cautious sentences, Risket disclosed the cause of his suffering.

"Driftwood, its all up with me. You are probably aware that several large sums of money were left at our bank for safe keeping. What with theatres, races, wine, parties, and——but it is useless to enumerate the cursed dens which sometimes have been our resorts! I have become heavily involved. Now put the two facts together. Money wanted, money lying idle; I perceive you anticipate the result. This much I can say in defence, I expect to return every dollar. Now what is your advice?" Driftwood discovered the net which entangled the unhappy man. He did not answer immediately, but presently asked,

"Do the officers suspect anything?"

"I think they do. I am not positive; but it is my impression that they are about to institute an investigation."

Driftwood now understood why Risket did not wish to meet him at the office; he understood, too, why the rough looking man who handed him the note had disappeared so quickly. He remembered, also how closely a passing watchman had scrutinized him while he was reading in the light of the street lamp, and unconsciously began to cast frequent glances toward the door, a movement he had remarked in Risket during the first moments of the interview.

"Risket, I don't know what to advise. Have you any course laid down?"

NEWPORT DAILY NEWS.

SATURDAY, May 6, 1871.

Morning News.

The base ball season is fairly open. The national game came off yesterday between the Boston nine and the Olympics of Washington. Above five thousand persons were present to witness the contest. Victory perched upon the banners of the Boston nine.

The treaty between America and England has been laid before the cabinet. Its terms are still withheld from the public.

The recount of the votes in New Haven gives Jewell one hundred less than the official report. The committee have many reasons to believe that the ballot box has been tampered with since the election, full investigations will be made.

The New York Bar Association is at last aroused. They met Thursday night and passed resolutions condemning the action of legislature in changing the code of proceedure in the courts of the State, and petitioning the Governor not to give the bill his official signature.

The great rains of the past four days have caused freshets in many places. At Albany the river has risen so that the streets along the docks below the steamboat landing are flooded, and people have to use boats to reach their homes. No property has been carried away, and the indications now are that the storm is over. Water at Troy is over the dock and rising. All the rivers in Wisconsin have risen greatly and much property has been carried away.

Numerous reports still come to the ears of the Government, of outrages committed upon defenceless citizens at the south. Mr. Reuben, school commissioner of Clarendon county, South Carolina, was killed on Saturday, and the house of State Senator Barber, of Fairfield county was visited, but Mr. Barber, being warned of the contemplated visit, escaped from the county. Several Fairfield county office holders have tendered their resignations to Governor Scott, alleging that their lives are in danger while in office.

Wait till You Know.

Now that the time draws nigh for the doings of the international commission to be made public, much anxiety is manifested as to the probable result of their labors.—The discussion in England has assumed a much more serious aspect than it has with us. What we have regarded as mere rumors they have apparently considered actual facts, and have dealt with them accordingly. No little hostility is manifested by the English press to what they are pleased to consider the exact terms of the treaty, although it is well known that the "exact terms" have never been made public. Neither are we at home entirely clear of the accusation of finding fault with what we know nothing about. Butler and Banks are reported ready to oppose every measure adopted by the commission, while, judging from the tone of some of our papers, they will be supported by quite a strong party.

Would it not be well enough to let matters alone, until they are properly laid before the Senate for consideration, then if the treaties are not what they should be, it will be time enough to reject them. The work bears on the face of it an air of fairness, and every report that has from time to time come to our ears has borne along with it a favorable impression, so that we are willing to believe that a settlement has been rendered, which will be highly satisfactory to the American people.

Revenue.

Hon. David A. Wells, late commissioner of internal Revenue, may be considered as good authority on all questions relating to tariff or taxes on imports. His valuable services for the government make his sayings of still more weight. A few days since he delivered a lecture before the Chamber of Commerce at Cincinnati, an outline of which is given by the Hartford Post. He began with the great convulsion of 1857, and showing the wonderful celerity with which the country recovered from the distress thereby entailed, elicited the significant fact that during the following years of great progress the tariff only averaged from 11 to 14 per cent. on the aggregate of our imports and the subject hardly elicited an allusion in Congress or the press. The war came; bringing an enormous demand for supplies and a corresponding stimulus to industry. With the close of the war the demand for supplies ceased, but it was not till very recently that the financial and industrial condition of the country could be accurately gauged. Now, said Mr. Wells, there are but three things that we can produce in equal advantage with other nations—gold, cotton and petroleum. He showed that the balance of trade against us in 1870, was about $53,000,000, while about 80 per cent of all coming into or going out of the country was carried in foreign bottoms. He proved that, despite the increased power of production, the cost of manufactures had increased from 10 to 30 per cent on almost every article. The agencies which have been instrumental in effecting this result are merely two excessive and defective taxation and a vicious currency; and when the return to these two agencies is accomplished you will not only reduce the cost of product to the extent indicated, but you will give in return for a given amount of labor an increased ability to command those things which minister to the comfort or happiness of the laborer. He said: "Let the advocates of special theories say what they may, there never was a time in our history when wealth increased faster and distributed itself more equably, and when a greater proportion was more actively and fully employed, than the three years immediately preceding the outbreak of the rebellion."

Office seeking has become an epidemic among the women, and just now is raging with great violence at the south. One of the female clerks in one of the departments at Washington died recently, and during the forty eight hours succeeding the publication of the decease, eighty-two women called upon the officer in charge to solicit the vacancy. In addition, hundreds of letters were received bearing the highest indorsements from Senators, Judges, Governors, and others, holding high official stations. The officer also says that the evidence in many of the cases shows the most abject poverty of the applicants, who were first for and once occupied prominent positions in society. Most of the applicants lived in Virginia Maryland, and the District.

A volcanic eruption is predicted from Mount Rainier, in Washington Territory. Generally during the hottest summer weather the snow on the summit is but partially melted. Now the heat is so great as to melt the snow, there is a constant emission of steam, and even smoke reported to have been seen by persons living in the vicinity.

A party of visitors went to the summit of Mount Washington on April 30th to find out how the party of scientific gentlemen who have been quartered there all winter were progressing. On reaching the top they discovered that these enthusiasts had not yet had an opportunity of thawing out, as the day was of a most wintry character, a snow storm prevailing, and everything wearing a December appearance.

The report of Chinese outrages on missionaries and teachers have been confirmed by despatches to the government. Minister Lowe protested at the time against these outrages, but he was informed by the Chinese government that the government of the United States was the first to disregard the terms of the Burlingame treaty.—His attention was called to the fact that the United States had failed to give Chinamen the protection called for by the treaty in the United States. It appears that the outrages committed against Chinamen on the Pacific coast have been communicated to the Chinese government, and that failing to obtain redress the Chinese have concluded to disregard their treaty stipulations. The matter is under consideration by our government.

Wickford.

The Providence Herald's correspondent says the steam launch connected with the United States torpedo works on Goat Island, Newport harbor, visited Wickford Wednesday, for the purpose of blowing the rocks in the channel of the steamboat wharf. The steamer arrived at 11 o'clock and commenced immediate operations, first by depositing a can containing seventy five pounds of powder by the side of the rock at the north end of the wharf. This exploded, but made little impression on the stone, and another can was placed under the rock, which was very effective. The third blast was effected by a torpedo placed on the rock midway the wharf, which also did the work effectually. A piece of the shell of the torpedo was thrown about two hundred and fifty feet in the air and came down within two feet of a lady, standing at a distance of not less than three hundred feet from where the blast was made—a pretty narrow escape. What makes the escape more wonderful is that the lady happened to glance upward just in time to see the shell (which weighed four and a half pounds) coming down, and, stepping aside, allowed it to imbed itself eight inches in the ground, just where she had been standing.

An Underground Distillery Unearthed in Boston.

On Monday morning last, a slight fire occurred in the vinegar factory of Messrs Lovis & Stewart, No. 847 Albany street, Boston Highlands, which was the means of bringing to light an underground distillery which had probably been running two or three years. The building was formerly used as a distillery, but was sold to the present proprietors some years ago and the stills removed. During the fire, one of the engineers discovered a still in operation beneath the floor of the portion of the building used as a cooper shop, concealed by a secured floor to the shop, which was covered with earth, to give it the appearance of a filled cellar. The Revenue Inspector was informed of the fact, and though when he reached there the stills had been removed and its traces as far as possible, he discovered enough to warrant the arrest of the proprietors, and they were bound over for trial in the District Court in the sum of $1,000 each. The inference is that all the alcohol which the firm have used in the manufacture of vinegar has been distilled on the premises. The still was capable of making about eighty gallons of alcohol a day.—Prov. Journal.

The village of Milan, in Ohio, is a phantom haunted locality. According to a correspondent who writes from that place nearly every second house in the village is developing into a weird sort of a ghostly receptacle. Upon the windowpanes of these houses faces are gradually appearing, having the effect of the old fashioned daguerreotypes of the years past. Nobody can account for the visitations. They develop themselves on the glass gradually. First an eye, then a nose, than another eye, a mouth, and so on, until the whole face, sometimes bearded and sometimes smooth shaven, becomes clearly visible to the beholder. Either the people of Milan, Ohio, must be gifted with very strong imaginations, or else a marvel has arisen among them. None of the stupid townspeople think it advisable to remove the glasses, and dispose of them. There's a fortune in those ghostly faces, if they only knew.

Locked In.

The Hartford Courant is responsible for the following: An amusing circumstance happened Tuesday afternoon. A member of the senate was called upon at his rooms by a couple of individuals anxious to serve the State in the capacity of door keepers or messengers. He was busy at that time with other gentlemen who had called upon him to consult upon more weighty matters, and asked the seekers for the responsible positions named to step into an adjoining room for a short time. The senator's conference with his first callers became so interesting that at its conclusion he had entirely forgotten the ambitious waiters in the other room, and, walking out of his office, he locked the door and pocketed the key, and went deliberately to supper with his family. While he was enjoying his tea the imprisoned office seekers were having an anxious time; the evening shadows were falling and there was not a button hole within reach—their prospects for success in their aspiration grew less as time went on. Finally the senator returned, discovered the situation of his callers, and released them. It would have been proper for the senator to have explained that he supposed the senate would want a couple of doorkeepers, and that he would secure them.

Woes of the Well-To-Do.

An English essayist writes on "the woes of the well-to-do," and expatiates on the sufferings of that class who are burdened by their possessions, whose houses possess them, and who must submit to the dire necessity of keeping up an establishment. These woes are by no means imaginary. The wants we create for ourselves are often more exacting than our actual necessities. Many a mistress of a fine mansion finds herself a slave to her own household. Out of these artificial wants springs the warfare with "help" so wearily waged by many housewives. It is not now as it was in the days of our great grandfathers, when girls were brought up to domestic labor, and thought it no disgrace to cook their own food and wash their own clothes. Then most households were comparatively independent. But now what with the lack of training for household labor, and the general bad health of American women, they have lost their freedom and are in subjection to the Celt. Bridget rules in a multitude of households whose mistresses are such only in name. An Irish servant girl was heard to say nothing since, "I don't allow my mistress in the kitchen. She came down last Saturday, but I told her if she didn't go out I'd leave at once, and she can't do her own work, so she was glad to march off." There's the rub. The mistresses are utterly dependent on their servants, and so put up with impudence and their exactions rather than be left helpless.

An English magazine writer, writing of colors and their durability in reference to dress, gives the interesting particulars of the infinite diversity of shades. Although two thousand different shades of color can be readily dyed at present, this number gives but a faint idea of the effects that might be produced by a continual varying admixture of one hue with another. Saxblue counts from twenty to twenty-four shades produced by manufacturers in printcottons, linen and silks, and a still greater variety could be furnished if demanded.—In royal blue, there are this season from twenty-four to thirty-eight varieties in the light middle shades. Scarlet has from thirty to forty shades; crimson the same number. Yellow has forty to fifty shades. The writer adds: "Scarlet, so rarely seen in ladies' dresses, may be termed the Emperor of colors, and is very beautiful in its light middle, and rich and dazzling, in its middle shades, and in certain combinations looks elegant in connection with a silver-gray or an olive.

The official announcement that the Austrian Government has decided to abolish the concordat with the church of Rome has a good deal of present significance.—This treaty was agreed to sixteen years ago, and made all decrees and ordinances of the Pope binding upon the Catholic people of Austria without the previous sanction of the Government of the Empire; gave the bishops full control over the public schools, the right to prohibit all books which they may deem pernicious, and the power to punish clergymen and laymen for violations of the rules of the church. The proposal to abrogate all these extraordinary powers, taken in connection with the Dollinger movement in Germany and other evidences of a desire for freedom from the ecclesiastical influence of Rome, are very significant signs that the influence is wanting.

A comparative statement of the number of distilleries in operation April 30 1870, and the same date in 1871, made at the Internal Revenue Office Thursday, shows 284 grain and 8 molasses distilleries on April 30, 1870, against 303 grain and 6 molasses distilleries on April 30, 1871, an increase of 19 grain and decrease of 2 molasses distilleries. The spirit producing capacity of the grain distilleries at the former date was 252,115 gallons daily, and at the latter date 210,233 gallons daily, a falling off in producing capacity of 41,882 gallons daily. The daily capacity of the molasses distilleries at the former date was 7,-362 gallons, and at the latter date 6 121, a decrease of capacity of 1,241 gallons daily.

The faculty of Amherst College announce that the college laws will henceforth be rigorously executed. Not rising to sing with the rest, studying in prayer time, freshmen going out before sophomores, disorderly conduct of whatever stripe, profane language and the use of intoxicating drinks are all grave misdemeanors, of which the penalty is lowering in rank. Snowballing in front of the building is strictly prohibited. The president proposes that the college laws be used as a textbook the first term of the freshman year, and that examinations be held on the subject matter.

A few years ago, Richmond, in Virginia, had no public schools. The first year the Peabody Fund contributed $1,000 in aid of such schools, and the city raised $10,000. The donation from the Fund remains the same, while the city now raises $42,000 for school purposes, and is supporting thirty nine white and thirty three colored schools. The Peabody Fund is the expression of a large idea and a noble purpose, on the part of its distinguished donor.

The wives of men of sentiment are not always the most appreciative women. Jean Paul represents Siebender as reading one of his beautiful imaginings to his wife, who listened with eyes cast down and bated breath. As he closed, the sharer of his joys beamed forth with, "Don't put on your left stocking to-morrow, dear; I must mend that hole in it."

The New York Mail says the "roosters' or "devil's fiddles" which have been torturing tympanums hereabouts for some time past have turned up in South Carolina, where they are known as "Allegheny whistles." We can spare a few more for other States which may have a hankering after inventions of this sort.

A six year old boy, arrested for throwing stones, was released on the strength of his name. It was Jefferson Davis Stonewall Jackson. The Justice, probably, thought it punishment enough for the grossest offence to be doomed to carry such a name through life.

A Cincinnati paper thinks there is no place for studying human nature equal to the street cars. But the study is attended with a great many inconveniences and very often exposes the student to greater dangers than would menace him among the savages of the Plains. Prudent people would prefer to get their knowledge of human nature in some other way.

A cable despatch to the World reports the Emperor Napoleon as having recently "declared at Chiselhurst that he would not return to France, nor would he listen to any proposition for his return." If the grapes were within his reach, the wily fox, we imagine, would not hesitate to appropriate them to his use.

The Cunard steamship Samaria, which arrived at Boston Monday evening, from Liverpool, brought 801 steerage passengers, the largest number received there in any steamer this season. They were made up of Irish, Welsh, English and Germans, and nearly all proceeded at once to the West, where they propose to locate as farmers.

Kingston, R. I., Oct. 14, 1870.

WM. K. REYNOLDS, Esq.—Dear Sir: This is to certify that Babcock's Lotion has been used in my family for about two years, and upon every member of it in some way or other, either internal or external, and in every instance they have received a benefit, if not a cure. I will further say, it is the best liniment I ever tried, and I think I have had no little experience, after building and suffering more or less from Rheumatism for the last fifteen years.—This liniment is full up to its recommendation, as far as I have used it. I buy it by the dozen bottles, for family use, and do not wish to be without the Lotion in my family, if I can get it.

DR. Made by American Glass Window Pulley Co., No. 39 Bowker street, Boston.

Quit Drugging.

This is now admitted by the medical profession as a fundamental principle of healing science. It is wisely provided by the human economy that whenever anything is wrong in the physical system the natural forces of the body are brought to bear to expel the disease. The great aim, therefore, is to strengthen the natural powers. This has been kept in view by the skillful compounders of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which operates to give fresh vitality to all the organs of the body. The effect of this medicine upon the stomach, the liver and the kidneys, is prompt and decisive. The patient, who is wise enough to quit drugging and try the Bitters, soon feels as if he had taken a new lease of life, and as he continues the use of the article, he is overjoyed to find the streams of health coursing through the frame. It is prepared with great care, and its component parts are entirely vegetable. It is free from the objections so often urged against preparations of the kind. As a medicinal agent it has no equal, while its pleasing flavor and healthful effects have made it a general favorite. It is free from all properties calculated to impair the system, and its operations are at once mild, soothing and efficient. All who have used Hostetter's Stomach Bitters attest its virtues and commend it.

Even those who are in the enjoyment of perfect health frequently have need to have recourse to some as preventives of disease. We are never so well armed against the assaults of "the ills that flesh is heir to," in health or sickness this tonic may be taken regularly without giving vitality and elasticity to the system.

FRANCE.

No Hope of Peace.

LONDON, May 5.

The Times' special despatch from Paris says that all hopes of peace have been abandoned. Delegates of the Freemasons have gone to the provinces to agitate in favor of the Commune.

There was constant heavy firing yesterday between the forts.

The Prussians allow provisions to enter Paris, which occasions uneasiness at Versailles.

The castle of Issy has been burned.

A letter to the Telegraph says that Gen. Rossel, the new Minister of War, defends the conduct of Gen. Cluseret.

Since Friday last, the insurgents have lost two thousand men in killed, wounded and prisoners.

PARIS, May 5.

The Communists still hold Fort Issy and are having it entrenched.

The fort continues to fire slowly upon the Versailles batteries at Clamart and Bas Meudon, and receives in return a perfect hail of projectiles.

VERSAILLES, May 5.

St. Germain has been taken possession of by the Versailles forces, who have established a battery there with which to shell the insurgent gunboats in the Seine. A naval combat is expected.

Fort Montrouge and Haute Bruyeres are constantly bombarded by the Versailles batteries at Chatillon, but without important result.

The Yellow Fever at Buenos Ayres.

LONDON, May 6.

Advices from Buenos Ayres of April 12th have been received. The ravages of the yellow fever were dreadful. The deaths from the disease have increased to seven hundred per day.

Gen. Rossel Wounded.

LONDON, May 5.

It is said that Prince Napoleon is in London. A despatch from Paris announces that Gen. Rossel has been wounded in the shoulder.

THE BREAK IN THE ERIE CANAL.

End of the Laborers' Strike.

ROCHESTER, May 6.

The strikers at the great canal break have surrendered, and both the men and their teams are at work this morning. The military sent out last night from this city are still on the ground.

Western Railroad Legislation.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 5.

The City Council last night repealed the ordinance submitting to the people the question of subscribing $415,000, in aid of the Louisville and Nashville railroad extension south. This action is understood as not being prejudicial to a subscription which will probably be made when necessary to carry out the enterprise.

VARIOUS PLACES.

NEW YORK, May 6.

The Transcript's special despatch says it has been raining furiously since morning and fears of an overthrow are apprehended in the lower part of the city.

Ohio advices say Ben Wade has consented to run for Governor, if nominated.

The Sun is disposed to credit the report that General Valmaseda has been shot in Santo Espiritu. The Cuban Junta here is reviving, the lady members taking steps for renewed activity.

The Congressional Committee appointed to investigate the condition of the South will meet on the 10th at Washington, when the question will be decided whether the committee shall visit the south or summon the South to Washington.

Yesterday a boy fell from the top of Millburn Mountain Observatory, in New Jersey, and was dashed to pieces.

The Tribune commends the President's message, and thinks it will have a good effect on the South.

Constantinople advices say the finances of the Turkish Government are in a worse state than usual. There is a deficit of $60,000,000, and in additions some prospective expenses far beyond the ordinary revenue must be met. A new loan of ten millions is talked of and it is said that it is to be negotiated in New York. Turkey is decidedly pleased with the abrogation of the late treaty which they assert was fully as galling to them as to Russia.

LONDON, May 5.

The Times' special despatch from Paris says that all hopes of peace are abandoned. Delegations of Freemasons have gone to the provinces to agitate in favor of the commune. The republican union league demands the negotiation of a truce for twenty days. The Freemasons of Havre and Fecamp have agreed to make a joint entreaty to the Versailles government and the Paris commune, for the institution of negotiations looking to peace.

VERSAILLES, May 5.

St. Germain has been taken possession of by the Versaillists, who have established a battery there with which to shell the insurgent gunboats on the Seine. A naval combat is expected. Fort Montrouge and Haut Bruyeres are constantly bombarded by the Versailles batteries at Chatillon, but without important result. The communists have occupied the trenches of Villejuif. Fort Issy replies sharply to the fire of the Versailles batteries at Clamart and Bas Meudon. The communists are entrenching it. Fort Vanvres also keeps up a slow fire and is vigorously shelled by the Versaillists at Clamart and Chatillon.

PARIS, May 5.

The official journal of the commune says that the federal position at Moulin Saguet was surprised in consequence of the treachery of some of the garrison, who sold the pass word to the Versaillists. The journal adds that the place has been recaptured. The official journal says, that the chateaux of Issy was burned by federal shells. The same journal admits that the communists have suffered serious losses in prisoners and cannon; that the Versaillists have advanced to and constructed barricades in Neuilly and Levallois, and that Neuilly has been set on fire by shells from Mont Valirien.

FIRST MORTGAGE
7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds,

On a Completed Road,

FREE OF U. S. TAX,

AT 90 AND ACCRUED INTEREST IN CURRENCY.

Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railway.

The completion of this Road has given to these Bonds an established character equal to any mortgage issue built on the Stock Exchange. We are prepared to buy and sell them at any time, at our banking House, at market price—thus placing them on the same basis, for temporary or permanent investment, with Governments or any other security.

These bonds are a first and only mortgage on a railroad that has cost double the amount of the issue, and which commands, without competition, all the traffic of Northern Iowa and Southern Minnesota—shortening the distance from St. Paul to Chicago 40 miles, and to St. Louis more than 6 miles.

Its net earnings are already largely in excess of interest on the whole, and no doubt exists that they will more than double within the ensuing year.

A contract has been secured with the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company obligating the latter to invest 50 per cent. of gross earnings derived from traffic with the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Minnesota Road on the bonds of this Company. This arrangement is a strong guarantee of the bonds, and establishes a large sinking fund for their redemption.

The convertibility privilege in these bonds enables them to be exchanged for stock, at par, at any time. This secures to the holder, at his option, a share in any excess of earnings over the interest obligation.

An exchange of Government securities for these bonds returns 9 1-2 per cent. interest, instead of 6 per cent., which is all that Governments pay at present prices, besides leaving an immediate gain of about 20 per cent. in price for reinvestment.

All unmarketable securities taken in exchange free of commission and Express charges.

"You are right. It is I who can right this cursed thing if it can be righted. God knows I have had time to consider it. I shall be unable to escape from the city, if I desired to. In fact, I suspect I am already watched. If I am brought to trial who will defend me?"

Here was "Driftwood's case;" one which he felt he must defend. Why must defend? Did friendship demand it? Not friendship only. A searching trial would bring to light many of the companions and haunts of Risket. Ah! there was the necessity! Who would screen his own character if Risket's was revealed? Friendship and standing in social and business circles depends upon the careful conducting of the case. He arose, and after pacing the floor for a moment said, "If it comes to trial I will defend you. Then, as it is too unsafe longer, he moved toward the door. Risket sat leaning his head upon the table. He did not look up; but Driftwood, going out, caught a glimpse of his face. It was so full of agony, an expression so uncommon for that face, that he never forgot it. Hastening into a lighter street he again hurried homeward, and again memory recalled the college room with its three young men, full of hope and anticipation. Again he remembered how Thoro had entreated him to stand firm for the right. Again he recalled his rebuke when he had spoken of "Doing among Romans as Romans do." "That's not the way I am willing to take a companion in and chance the consequences."

III.

The exclamatory sentences of newspaper columns announced another case of corruption in high life; the close court-room was crowded with men curious to see the prisoner; rejoicing in another opportunity to hear of temptations yielded to, and hearts corrupted.

Driftwood worked earnestly; his plans were carefully laid; for he knew his own name was not safe. Already he half suspected some spatterings of the vile revelations had fallen on his character; already new furrows were on his face, and "often he wore the look of case while grief was in his heart." But carefully laid plans, influential friends and earnest pleading did not avail. The sentence was softened, but the verdict was "Guilty!" Morning papers announced in glaring letters, that another life was shut within the four walls of a prison. Men commented on it; and then the ripple of excitement passed away, to give place to another. The story was forgotten by the world, but not altogether. That was no careless countenance, no uninterested heart in a quiet village home—which followed every detail in the winding testimony of many witnesses; and when the rustling paper carried to him the final sentence, Tom Thoro wept.

"He was my friend in early boyhood, and I shall go to him," he said, as he told the story to sympathizing hearers, gathered around the fireside. The following week found Thoro in Driftwood's office, living over old times and recalling old acquaintances. At the mention of Risket, Thoro said, "I have taken a long journey to see him. Do you think I shall prove a welcome visitor?"

"Most assuredly you will," answered Driftwood. "He has frequently mentioned your name to me, and I know he will be glad to see your face again." Then, after a short pause, he added with great earnestness,

"Tell him, Thoro, that I have abandoned my theory of compromising good and evil. Would that I had done so many years ago! Tell him of that better doctrine which I am endeavoring to understand and practice, and may He whose love never groweth less, encompass us both with protecting care."

It was a heavy door, and the fastenings jarred and rattled as it turned on its hinges; a small cell into which the light entered through a chink in the wall, and there the inmate was to labor, and sleep, and wake, and count the seasons as they change and grow old. "He is in that number, and when you are ready to come out, call me," said the man with the keys, as he turned the bolt.

Ah! no wonder Thoro drew back and shuddered. It was harvest time in that gloomy cell, and the reaper did not wear the same careless face and merry eye as during seed time. It was so haughty and which greeted him. Ah, well he might pity that face where sorrow had been at work and that heart where agony dwelt.

"There are times when a man's thoughts cannot be followed by words." Who shall tell the story of a refined mind shrinking from the contemplation of its own wickedness, quaking and flying from itself through weary moments dragging themselves into days, months, and years. But Thoro whose tender heart had soothed many storms, pointed the tossing soul to him who whispered "Peace be still." He spoke kindly to the crushed spirit in that silent cell,

"And gave him counsel and encouragement,
'Till like broad gates the possibilities
Of a serene and higher life,
Were thrown wide open to his eager feet.
And he resolved to enter in,
And with God's gracious help
Go no more out."

Gentle reader may this story of their lives point you to that compass and anchor which alone make the live voyage safe, saving from wrecks and death.—Wood's Magazine.

The University Medicines

are not patent medicines, but the Favorite Prescriptions of the New York Medical University, an incorporated Institution of the State, and are prepared in conformance with the views of a number of distinguished living American practitioners, who believe that the time is come when educated physicians should arise and make a decisive effort to overthrow the health-destroying system of quackery prevailing in every town and city, and substitute scientific, responsible remedials—made in accordance with the principles of Medical Chemistry—in place of the worthless or dangerous patent Medicines flooding the country.

A knowledge of Medicine and Chemistry, as profound as that of any physicians that have ever lived, enables us to warrant these Compounds to be the most perfect Curatives for disease ever placed before the people. What may seem almost incredible is the astonishing rapidity with which they cure diseases hitherto considered incurable.

They are combined, with great care, from fine Chemicals, with a true knowledge of their therapeutic properties and physiological effects. Nothing cheap, impure, or poisonous, has been tolerated in their composition.

They are the finest prescriptions of a body of eminent American professors, and have been thoroughly tested in one of the most extensive and successful practice of the day.

The University Medicines

are to-day sweeping the country from Maine to Mexico, becoming the leading Health Restoratives, and rapidly superseding the old poisons, nostrums, and nauseous drugs, and their sale is becoming enormous. They are now regularly prescribed by over one thousand physicians.

No Forged Certificates Required.

No medicines ever originated have received so many genuine certificates of cures in so brief a space of time. We are daily receiving letters from every part of the country, from patients and physicians, recording the most astounding cures performed by these remedies. Many of these cases had been considered beyond the power of cure. We wish that we could publish these letters for the encouragement of the afflicted, but a book of 1,000 pages would not contain them.

From our Letter-Files.

In order to convince the skeptical, we this day publish the following opinions selected from many thousands voluntarily given by intelligent, respectable people who have used the UNIVERSITY MEDICINES themselves, or in their families, as a moral guarantee that these magnificent remedies are fully entitled to rank at the head of the hour.

SS.—Personally appeared before me, J. W. Scott, President; A. Massett, Vice-President; John G. Howard, Treasurer; and George Powell, Secretary of the New York Medical University, and made oath upon the Holy Evangel of Almighty God, that the following are genuine, unsolicited extracts, taken from original letters being daily received at the Institution. WM. H. RIBLET, Notary Public.

Corner Ninth street and Sixth avenue, New York.

SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE, WASHINGTON, March 10, 1869.

Professors—Please forward my second order for University Medicines. I am pleased to say that I have found them of great service in the treatment of patients under my charge.

———, A. A. Surgeon, U. S. A.

284 Congress St., Portland, Me., May 1, 1870.

Professor Scott and Associates—The UNIVERSITY MEDICINES are rapidly revolutionizing the practice of medicine in Maine. * * * I have over five hundred patients. * * * Here, in Portland, I have taken away two-thirds of the doctors' patients. * * * I have nearly two hundred agents, and am establishing ten agencies a day. * * * I shall sell $100,000 worth of UNIVERSITY MEDICINES in Maine this year. * * * I am worn out with hard work. * * * I enclose you a number of certificates of great cures. * * * I will pay $1,000 if one of them can be found that is not genuine. * * *

P. STAPLES, State of Maine Agent.

MOBILE, Ala., May 8, 1870.

Gentlemen—Send us a ton more of your goods by steamer as soon as possible, as we intend to make the sale of the UNIVERSITY MEDICINES a specialty, having more confidence in their curative properties than any medicines we have ever sold. In fact we have the most unbounded belief in them, and always recommend them to our customers in preference to all others we have ever known. We have recently made some astonishing cures in Mobile of Scrofula, Catarrh, Kidney Diseases, etc., with your Cancer-Plant, Lithia, Specific, etc.

I. D. & B. G. GOULD,
Druggists, thirty-five years' standing.

From a distinguished member of Congress.

WASHINGTON, May 4, 1870.

My Dear Doctor—Your medicines seem to act favorably on the nerves, as well as the blood. * * * I am much improved. * * * My limbs are wonders of medical science. * * * I have every faith in your medicine and skill. * * * I believe that you are enlightened of God to do a great work, and that you will do it. * * * You have done a great deal for me. * * * You understand your business. * * * You are the second physician whom I have confidence in. * * * I would not trust the blockheads down here to give physic to my horse. *

BLAIRSVILLE, Pa., April 18, 1870.

To Professor Scott—Enclosed please find sketch of the case of William Carson, of this place, aged 55—Disease, indurated scrofulous ulcer of the right leg, painful and gangrenous, of 35 years' standing. It had exhausted all the skill of numerous physicians during that time.

This terrible picture was his condition on the 1st of February, 1870.

By the use of the Cancer Plant Extract, Healing Blood-and-Bone Ointment, and May-Apple Pills, he is now entirely cured.

This case has attracted remark and amazement.—He being a poor man, and one turned out to die, the medicines were furnished at cost—$15.

Besides, your Five Minute Pain Curer and Neuralgo-Rheumatic Elixir have straightened his neck, drawn to an angle of 45 degrees.

I took him in hand, while all the doctors laughed at me, and considered it a good joke to attempt to cure this poor man; but, thank God, I have cured all his maladies, restored his strength, and made him a well person with the UNIVERSITY MEDICINES.

I think, Doctor, that God has inspired you to bring forth remedies for the cure of His afflicted children that nothing in the shape of medicine has yet approached.

SAMUEL E. GREEN.

1,558 THIRD AVENUE, New York, June 24, 1870.

Professor Scott and Associates—It is truly gratifying to know that science has at length triumphed over quackery. I have been using the UNIVERSITY MEDICINES in my regular practice for some time with the most remarkable success. Disease of every character rapidly succumbs to their healthful influence. You are evidently destined to overthrow the old practice of medicine.

CHAS. K. DRAPER, M. D.

Dr. Scott, &c.—For years I have suffered with Cancer of the breast. What my sufferings were, tongue can never tell. In a dying condition I came to you, and commenced using your Cancer Plant and Ointment. Almost immediately, all pain ceased—The tumor has vanished, and through the providence of God, I am a well woman. In my deep gratitude, and from a sincere interest in the welfare of those similarly afflicted, I shall be pleased to answer all questions.

New York, Oct. 12, 1869. MRS E. CAREY.

Three bottles of your Hydrated Oxymel cured me of Consumption, although our Bridgeport physicians said that I could not be cured.

GEORGE D. REYNOLDS.

Metallic Cartridge Company, Bridgeport, Conn. March 1, 1870.

Professor Scott—Through the recommendation of C. W. Huntington, Esq., of Hartford, who has successfully used your Lithia as a remedy for disease of the Kidneys and Liver, I am induced to order some.

Unionville, Conn., Jan. 1, 1870. L. M. MASON.

Dr. Scott—Three months ago, I was attacked with Heart Disease. Our family physician pronounced it Neuralgia of the heart, and prescribed medicine without benefit. I also ascertained that I was affected with that awful disease, Spermatorrhoea. I forthwith obtained your Ethereal Phosphorus, and after taking four bottles was completely restored. Afterward I had pain in my back, which your Lithia cured. My oldest boy had the skin disease—Herpes—and Cantored five years without relief. I gave him two bottles of your Cancer Plant Extract, and, thank God, he is well. WASHINGTON TYSON.

Pottstown, Pa., Jan. 5, 1870.

Derby, Conn., Jan. 21, 1870.

Dr. Scott—I came to the conclusion that you were trying to cure people, which is more than most Doctors do nowadays. I got a bottle of Lithia for my wife's kidney disease, which none could cure, and I found it helped her immediately. D. CAMP.

Towanda, Pa., April 11, 1870.

Dr. Scott—I have used your Extract of Cancer Plant for the blood, and pronounce it the chief of alteratives. A. N. NELSON.

165 North Main St., Providence, R. I.

Professors—Some of my friends and myself have tried the UNIVERSITY MEDICINES, and found them satisfactory beyond our expectations.

From the well-known eminent Dr. Buckler Jones:

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 17, 1869.

I have a lady under my care with Cancer in the left breast. I recommended her to use your remedies, and with the most marked benefit and decided improvement in every respect.

J. BUCKLER JONES, M. D.

Ashland, Pa., 1870.

Dear Sirs—I have prescribed your Hydrated Oxymel for Bronchitis, and the Yellow Jessamine for Heart Disease, with great benefit, and am convinced of their efficacy. DR. JOHN B. KENNEDY.

Newport, R. I., Jan. 14, 1870.

"Io Triumphe" should be the motto of your medicines. They have cured me after all our Newport physicians have failed. J. W. TILLSON.

74 Temple St., Hartford, Jan. 19, 1870.

Dr. Scott & Co.—Four bottles of your Ethereal Phosphorus have acted very strengthening to my system. R. KINZEL.

VERNON, Conn., May 4, 1870.

Doctors—I obtained eight bottles of your Ethereal Phosphorus for Spermatorrhoea. I am using it according to instructions, and feel a marked improvement. The lustre of my eyes has returned, and my whole countenance is brighter. It is slowly but surely curing me. Thanks to your wonderful medicine, it is helping me in many ways, etc., etc.

E. L. RISLEY.

FAIRPORT, Iowa, March 5, 1870.

Gentlemen—Your Katalpa Extract works magically. There is nothing equal. I have been afflicted with sick headache and liver complaint since last spring. Took three doses of your Headache Pills and can say they have cured my head out as clear as a bell. I gave the balance away, saying: "Gentlemen, be convinced—I am." Dr. MCKENNA.

YARMOUTH, Me., May 9, 1870.

Doctor—My mother is taking your Cancer Plant for Dropsy. Two bottles have done her more good than three years' doctoring from the best physicians of this place. * * * I hope the Lord will continue to prosper you in the good work.

MRS. SARAH A. WITTON.

56 MARKET ST., Pittsburgh, Pa., July 1, 1870.

Professor Scott—Although dispensing the UNIVERSITY MEDICINES but a short time, I am confident that where they are given a fair trial they will work wonders as curers of disease, and give general satisfaction. All the remedies are proving successful, and my practice is rapidly increasing.

J. M. YOUNG, M. D.

OFFICE BLANCHARD HAME CO., Palmer, Mass., May 4, 1870.

Professors—The University Medicines are effecting some remarkable cures here. Send me one dozen of Cancer Plant and Chemical Ointment.

A. B. CHAPMAN, Secretary.

PHILADELPHIA, June 23, 1870.

Professors—We have just been handed a bottle containing a piece of tapeworm, 13 feet 8 inches in length, which was brought away by the use of one bottle of Cancer Plant and the May-Apple Pills.

We also have just cured a lady of gravel of many years' standing, by using Lithia and Alkaline Resolvent. JOS. C. HARROLD.

I find the UNIVERSITY MEDICINES work like a charm in my practice.

W. WATERVILLE, Me. W. H. HOBS, M. D.

And thousands upon thousands of others. Can any other medicines show a similar record?
